DID YOUR HEAT GO OUT? Don't Panic! Here's What to Do Instead

If you experience heat loss this winter, don't panic! See if you can correct the issue quickly and safely with this checklist:

BE PREPARED FOR THE SILENT THREAT:

What You Should Know About Carbon Monoxide

What is carbon monoxide (CO) and how is it produced?

Carbon monoxide (CO) is a deadly, colorless, odorless, poisonous gas. It is produced by the incomplete burning of various fuels, including coal, wood, charcoal, oil, kerosene, propane, and natural gas. Products and equipment powered by internal combustion engines such as portable generators, cars, lawn mowers, and power washers also produce CO.

What are the symptoms of CO poisoning?

Nausea Dizziness Confusion Headache Fatigue Shortness of breath

What should you do if the CO alarm sounds or you suspect a CO leak?

Never ignore an alarming CO alarm! It is warning you of a potentially deadly hazard. If the alarm signal sounds, do not try to find the source of the CO. Instead, you should:

- 1 Immediately move outside to fresh air.
- 2 Call the non-emergency number of your local fire department. The fire department will do an air quality test. If carbon monoxide is detected, Eshenaur's will respond and inspect the furnace.
- 3 After calling your fire department, do a head count to check that all people are accounted for. DO NOT reenter the premises until the emergency service responders have given you permission.
- 4 If the source of the CO is determined to be a malfunctioning appliance, DO NOT operate that appliance until it has been properly serviced by trained personnel.

NO-HEAT CHECKLIST

Fuel Tank: Check the gauge to see if you need a heating oil or propane refill, and if you do, give us a call.

Thermostat: Make sure your setting is on HEAT, and the cooling function is not on instead.

Switches: Check that all furnace and emergency switches are on.

Reset Button: Press the RESET button on your furnace—ONCE ONLY.
